

WHENEVER I WAS CONFUSED OR DEPRESSED OR DIDN'T KNOW WHAT TO DO...YOU WERE THERE TO GUIDE ME!
TODAY, I WANT TO THANK YOU FOR ALL THAT YOU DO!

This is an opportunity for all of us to recognize the importance, work and gifts of your pastor, clergy, chaplains, or volunteers. All those who provide pastoral care to others, regardless of faith, tradition, whether clergy or not, those who give pastoral care in specialized settings such as hospitals, prisons, businesses, industries, long term care facilities, pastoral counseling centers, hospices, military settings, nursing homes, congregations of sisters, priests and brothers, schools, universities and seminaries.

The rewards of being a pastor are many. Without question, there is no other position in the world that has a higher honor, than to be called of God to be pastor. However, it is a vocation of extreme contrast. It can be sometimes wonderful and sometimes terrible in the same package. Despite potential blessings of leading souls to Christ, the job of pastor is one of the most difficult, agonizing tasks there is. Some of the greatest challenges of a pastor are: being misunderstood, coping with criticism, faced with an overwhelming task, resisting manipulation, coping with emotional conflict, coping with disappointment, dealing with satanic attack and perseverance.

So, take the time to pray for your pastors, encourage them, show them love, offer your help where it may be needed and thank them as much as possible for the hard work they do.
